University raises flag in honor of Vietnam POWs and MIAs

First-time tribute by a Mass. state school

By Peter Bernard

In the first ceremony of its kind to be seen at any Massachusetts state college, prisoners of the war in Vietnam and those still listed as missing in action were commemorated with the raising of a special POW/MIA flag Friday in front of Cumnock Hall.

National POW/MIA week

The event coincided with National Prisoner of War/Missing in Action Week, which was September 13-19. The ceremony began with introductions and greetings by Cadet William Gruber,

U.S. Army ROTC followed by a combined Army/Air Force ROTC color guard "posting of the colors" to officially open the ceremony. The cold and rainy day kept some spectators away but a group of approximately thirty university students came out for the event. Those who did attend, mostly brothers of Delta Kappa Phi, sisters of Alpha Sigma Tau, alongside members of the military and various news media, braved the elements to observe the tribute.

Many still listed

Opening speaker Jim Cipolla, who is a veteran of the 25th Infantry and 75th Rangers, spoke to the audience of the large numbers of soldiers involved in the Vietnam War and emphasized the many who are still considered POWs and MIAs possibly still under captivity. He related one example about a Massachusetts soldier, a member of a helicopter crew. In reports his ship was shot down, crashed and exploded with no survivors. But the next day when a search and rescue team found the downed helicopter they discovered that it had indeed been shot down, but there was no sign of fire or explosion. In addition, all of the escape hatches were found open, and survival gear was missing.

That soldier, along with the other crewmen who were aboard are still listed as Missing In Action.

Roll called

The second speaker, Tim Perkins, a U.S. Air Force veteran, read two poems.

Cadet Gruber then called the roll of MIAs from Massachusetts. After each name and hometown were read Cadet Michael Corricelli, of U.S. Air Force ROTC, saluted and gave the response, "Sir, missing in action, Sir."

Flag presented

The Merrimack Valley Vietnam Veterans, Inc., lead by Joe Dalphond, then presented the flag to be raised. The black and white standard was raised in front of Cumnock Hall and flew just below the American flag. Once the flags were secure a bugler played taps.

The solemn occasion was a fitting reminder of the estimated 2,100 soldiers still listed as POW/MIA who served in South East Asia. Efforts to locate or confirm the status of these men is still continuing in Southeast Asia.

$85,000 granted for plastics recycling

By Tracey Driscoll

A grant of $85,000 has been awarded to the ULowell Plastics Engineering Department to aid in combatting the state's serious waste problem by trying to take out 42,000 tons of the plastic refuse.

New research center

A center for research and development will be established under the direction of Professor S.J. Chen. ULowell will mesh with New England CRINC center in North Billerica to utilize 8% of the state's refuse. It will be the first project in the country to combine research and industry to fight the rise of the garbage piles.

January 1, 1988 will mark the start of the three year program. The center will determine a practical means of recycling up to 42,000 tons of plastic materials that would normally be discarded, thus contributing to the state's already serious landfill problem. Professor Chen fears that someday "we will be buried by all the waste." He stressed, "the public must be aware of this problem to ensure the comfort of future generations."

Economic values in recycling

The city of Lowell's sanitation costs are determined by the volume of garbage. The city currently is facing the costly burden of creating a trash to energy facility. Recycling plastics will decrease the volume of wastes and ultimately save the city money within even the first year of operation.

"We will be buried by all the waste."

An educational program will be instituted in the near future in hopes of encouraging the public to be more "waste conscious." Items such as plastic bags, soda bottles, shampoo tubes, and milk containers will all be utilized to eventually reach a recycling goal of 25% of all wastes in the future.

Catholic Bible Study Begins

The Catholic Center is sponsoring a weekly "Bible Study" to enable people to come to a deeper understanding of sacred scripture. There are many ways to study the Bible and many different uses of Sacred Scripture. In the Catholic tradition we believe that the Bible is the Revealed Word of God spoken through human beings over the course of many centuries. It is a book of faith that helps us to understand ourselves, life and The God Who is The Author of Creation. It is not a text book on morality, or a code of discipline or a book on science.

Our Bible Study will be an attempt to probe the depths of scripture to understand things like Faith and Love and Justice and what difference these realities make in our lives. We will use modern tools of Biblical criticism in our study of scripture and attempt to apply timeless truths to contemporary life. Our scripture study will take place in the Catholic Tradition, however, one need not be a Catholic in order to attend.

Our Bible study will begin on this Monday, September 28 at 3:30 p.m. at the Catholic Center. At this time, we will decide on a time that is most convenient for all who are interested in participating. Please join us.

AL-ANON MEETINGS

Al-Anon is a fellowship of men and women meeting together to overcome the effects of living or having lived with an alcoholic. This program enables families and friends of alcoholics to recover from the chaotic effects of the disease of alcoholism. The success of Al-Anon comes from following the Twelve Step program developed by Alcoholics Anonymous. Al-Anon becomes the community resource for relatives and friends of alcoholics.

"Alcoholism is a family disease. The well-being of anyone living with an alcoholic is affected emotionally, physically, and spiritually. Al-Anon Family Groups offer help to anyone who is or has been affected by the problem of alcoholism in a relative or friend. Al-Anon is for people who have a problem they want to solve by sharing their experience, strength and hope with other people; the more varied the membership, the broader the opportunity to share recovery. Whatever our relationship to the alcoholic, Al-Anon is a place to share, a place to care and a place to grow."*

(Al-Anon Sharings, ACOA Al-Anon Conference Approved Literature.)

AL-ANON MEETINGS will be held EVERY TUESDAY EVENING starting at 7:30 p.m. - 9 p.m. in FOX HALL ROOM 604.

Colleges install condom machines

The universities of Minnesota, California at Santa Cruz, Cincinnati, Nebraska, and scores of other campuses around the country have installed condom dispensing machines.

The reason, say the sponsors, is to help control the spread of AIDS. Adding the vending machines gives students 24 hour access to condoms, an important point considering sexual encounters are often unplanned and spontaneous.

"Some people feel very self-conscious about buying this kind of product," explained Tom Roberts of the University of California-Santa Barbara AIDS task force.

Given the choice of asking a clerk at the university's pharmacy for a condom or avoiding embarrassment, many students opted not to buy condoms at all, he said.

"If just one person doesn't get AIDS as a result of those dispensers," said Roberts, "they will have done the job."

Anti-AIDS books on campus

Some 3000 students arriving at Framingham State College last week got an extra gift: a booklet about how to avoid AIDS.

It was from U.S. Rep. Chester Atkins, who also took the opportunity to tweak the Reagan administration and gain some publicity in handing out the handbooks, which were sponsored and then rejected by the White House.

The Reagan administration had criticized the book for not stressing abstinence as a way to keep from getting AIDS.

Critics also objected to the handbook's anatomical references.

But Atkins, saying he was distributing the books in the name of public health, asserted, "As students come back to school, they need to know the basic facts about AIDS."

Atkins apologized to those who might find the book's language offensive. "However, only through learning about the transmission of the disease can people protect themselves from its spread."

Private college expenses reach $11,132 per year

Freshmen at the 500 most expensive private campuses in America will spend an average of $11,132 in tuition, fees, room, and board this school year, the College Board reports. This represents a 7.39 percent increase over 1986-87 prices.

Government document raises doubts for animals' safety in research

By Laurie Eno

Recently obtained government documents reveal that half of the primates housed at the University of Lowell Research Foundation are used, without anesthetic, in experimentation involving pain and distress.

The federal government has allocated $250,000 to the research so far, involving not only primates but hamsters and mice as well.

These findings have raised the concerns of local residents and students who worried about mistreatment of the animals in those research laboratories.

A spokesman for the Lowell Citizens for Responsible Research (LCRR) stated, "Students and city residents have a right to know what's going on," and suggested that the research at Lowell "should be scrutinized in light of the mishandling and abuse that has been documented at other schools."

Other colleges' cruelties

Government funded research is carried out at many schools across the nation. But as M.I.T.'s Gul Agha said, "Not all researchers are equally concerned about the animals' welfare." U.Cal. at Berkley was fined $12,000 for five years' abusive treatment of animals. Labs at Columbia University were shut down after abuse was documented there. And when highly graphic videotapes taken inside the University of Pennsylvania's Head Injury Clinic went public, officials from the USDA and the Dept. of Health and Human Services refused to testify at Congressional hearings on animal legislation.

Primate experiments

Until now, the Research Foundation at ULowell has attracted relatively little public scrutiny, co-existing peacefully with the school and the city. But discovery of the government documents has raised new questions about ULowell's experimentation, in which primate subjects are kept on a specialized diet in order to measure the diet's effect on blood chemistry and metabolism.

These recently found documents indicate that the animals are restrained while blood samples are collected with a 25g syringe. According to the LCRR this is an unusually high figure.

The public interest organization is also concerned about the safety of the many test rodents at the Research Foundation. The mice and hamsters are injected with schistosome parasites, commonly known as the blood fluke, and distributed to other labs in the U.S. and Canada.

LCRR members are consulting outside expert sources in reviewing the research protocols, and they are organizing an October meeting for concerned students and local residents.

Spring Carnival to return

The Board of Trustees decided Wednesday night that the tradition of Spring Carnival will be brought back to the North Campus fields.

Two years ago, Spring Carnival went dry to avoid the problems of liability insurance and the Carnival moved far away.

Students bussed and drove to the distant Kingston Fairgrounds in Kingston, NH.

Last year, in an attempt to move away from what was called "the Kingston Dustbowl," the A.C. ran Spring Concert at Tulley Forum.

Freshman pulls boy from canal

Last Tuesday, Tom Boucher made an unexpected detour on his way to school -- a detour that led to an attempt to save a young boy's life.

Boucher, a freshman at ULowell, was walking along Broadway Street going to his Pre-Calculus class when Shane Carney, an 11-year-old Lowell native, ran to him for help.

Heroic attempt

Carney explained that 13-year-old Vandy Phorna was drowning in the nearby Pawtucket Canal beneath the Francis Gate House.

Boucher ran to the site, flung his book bag and shirt, and dove into the canal. Boucher then pulled the young boy back to the surface and to the shore where police officers gave Phorna emergency assistance.

Although Phorna was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital and later flown to the New England Medical Center in Boston, he died later that day.

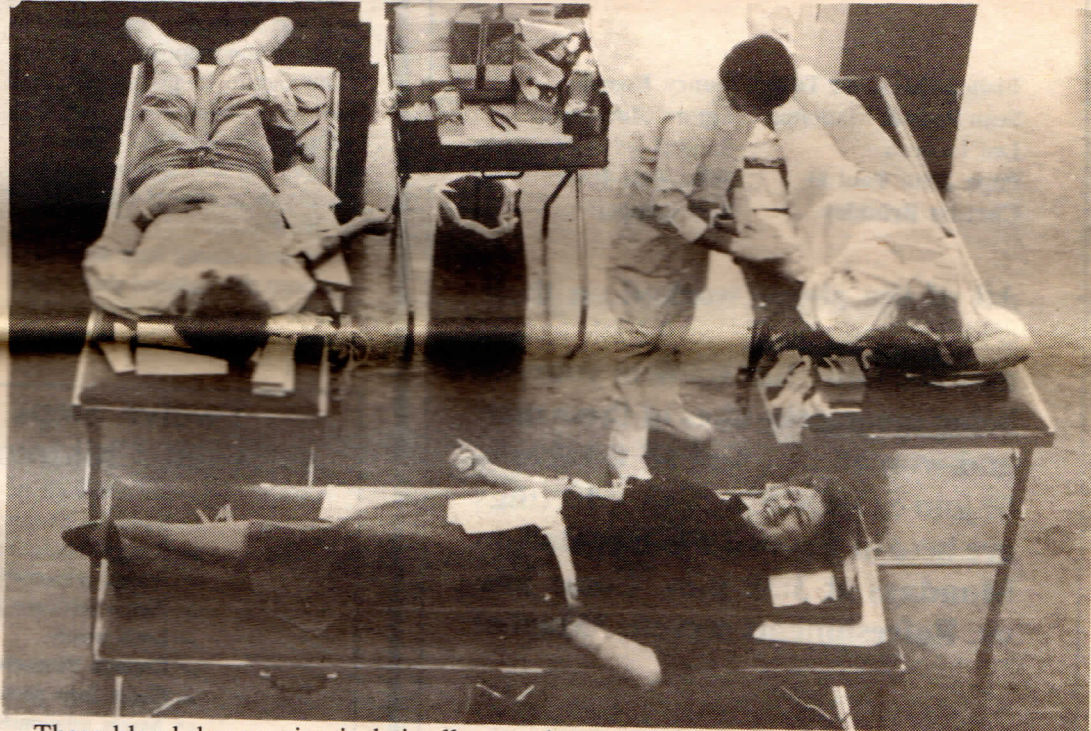

Boucher, although risking his own life to help Phorna, does not want to be lauded for his efforts. "Anybody would have done it," he commented. "It was nothing special." He brushed aside his act of heroism by saying, "I just wanted to get the kid out of the canal."

Race related murder

But where Boucher's work was heroic, the acts of an unidentified 11-year-old would be considered racist and destructive.

Police investigating the drowning have discovered that Phorna was pushed into the canal after a racial incident. The unidentified male youth that the police are holding is being charged with murder.

Blood brothers

These blood donors give it their all, or at least one pint of their all during the blood drive Monday in the South Campus S.U.B.

Sex is on the minds of students

By Chuck Mahaleris

A recent Connector poll found that on the average, University of Lowell students think about sex at least 16 times as often as students across the nation.

An article written by the College Press Service stated that overall college students tended to think about sex as little as 1% of the time. This percentage appeared by many standards quite small to most students polled and of the students who completed the survey, the results conclude that on the average, students from the University of Lowell have a stronger sexuality than students nationwide.

Female thoughts

Female students from our campuses rated highest when asked how often they think about sex. With an staggering 32% women admitted that they spend a third of each day thinking about sex.

One female attested that she thought of sex at least 85% of any given day. Her estimates pulled the female curve up only slightly from the previous average of 29%.

Lower percentage for males

The male students across ULowell, although far more sexually oriented than their nationwide counterparts, thought about sex half as often as the women on campus. Men thought about sex on an average of 16% during any given day.

The most conservative estimate given of time spent on sex was one given by a graduating male student, but even his account is 6 times greater than the national sexuality level as reported in the College Press Service.

States afraid of first-class colleges

Despite all the talk, most states are "afraid" to build "first class" public campuses, a leading education group charged Sept. 8.

"Some states seem afraid of having a great university for fear that it will become a political threat or an expensive habit," charged Frank Newman, president of the Education Commission of the States, which published a report on nationwide college reform called "Choosing Quality" last week.

"Some simply do not believe that they have within themselves the ability to be first class," Newman added.

Newman figured "fewer than 25" states even are trying to improve their college systems.

Based on interviews with educators and government officials, the report focused on about 100 major state universities.

Newman suggested campuses focus their resources on programs in which they can be outstanding, and create a climate that will attract high quality personnel. He said state governments should create incentives for campus leaders to improve instead of legislating changes in the ways colleges are run.

No state lacks the ability to have a top state university, Newman said, naming Ohio as one state that has invested in quality college programs even as its economy has foundered.

Center for Performing and Visual Arts off to Sophisticated Start

By Kathy Connery

On October 4th, the curtain will go up on what promises to be the ULowell Center for Performing And Visual Arts' most exciting season to date. The inaugural show for the 1987 season will be the Tony-award winning, "Sophisticated Ladies." Oliver Chamberlain, Director of the Center, described the song and dance revue of some of jazz legend Duke Ellington's better known works as "sparkling entertainment." Viewers may find themselves humming along to familiar favorites like, "A- Train," "Mood Indigo," or "Pennsylvania 6500," just to name a few. Hopefully, this national tour production will set an upbeat tone for the remainder of the 1987 season.

This season the Center will offer six distinct "packages" of two events in the areas of Theater, Dance, Music, Jazz, young artist winners, and Solo Artists. This innovative marketing technique is aimed at providing a variety of entertainment for a broader range of public tastes. Package prices range from a minimum of $8.50 to a maximum of $32.00 depending upon seat location and desired shows.

The Center will be repeating its "Rush policy" for ULowell students for all of its upcoming twenty events. Interested students can show up a half hour before curtain and purchase up to two tickets for available seats of their choice with a valid I.D. for the mere price of $2.00. The Rush ticket policy began last year to encourage students to attend the wide-ranging cultural events offered by the Center. The policy is made possible and supported in part by an allocation of the Student Activities Fees Fund. "We expect the trend will continue,"

JACK NEARY

How about a little aMusement

by Kathy Connery

Jack Neary is coming! Jack Neary is coming! Ok, I give up, who is Jack Neary? For those of us who are still left in the dark, Jack Neary is Lowell's own answer to Neil Simon. ok, so I'm exaggerating just a little bit, but Mr. Neary is not only one of today's more up-and-coming playwrights, but he is also an accomplished actor and director.

Now you're wondering what the heck all this has to do with you. Plenty! Mr Neary, (Jack to his friends and relatives) whose list of playwriting accomplishments include the highly successful "First Night," the shocking thriller "Final Dress," and the outrageously funny "Summer Theater...Summer Not," will be writing and directing an original comedy tentatively titled "aMusement" to be produced by ULowell's own ULowell Players! Whew! If that's not exciting enough for you, check this out. Jack himself was once a ULowell Player who thrilled the campus with his performance in "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," directed by Player's ad visor Prof. Gardner Tillson.

So, what's all this fuss over "aMusement?" Well I'll tell you. "aMusement," though still in the working stage, is shaping up to be one hell of a funny comedy. The play centers on a young writer, Howie, who is experiencing what can only be described as the world's worst case of writer's block. The comic factor enters as all the characters of his unfinished stories crowd into his creative flow, begging to have a dynamic ending written for them. What happens next you ask? Well, throw in a restless love interest, an obnoxious yuppie couple, and a wandering Muse and the rest is...well the rest is...you'll just have to see for yourself.

Come see it yourself and you may find yourself amused! (Show dates T.B.A.)

Norwegian Chamber Orchestra to Perform at ULowell

The University of Lowell Center for the Performing and Visual Arts will present the Norwegian Chamber Orchestra in their first New England tour on Tuesday, October 13th at 8:00 p.m. in Durgin Hall.

First formed in the summer of 1975, the NCO draws its fifteen members from the cream of young Norwegian orchestral musicians. following their sensational debut over ten years ago, the NCO toured widely in Europe to appreciative audiences and critical acclaim. In February 1984, they performed a number of concerts in the Caribbean with Mstislav Rostropovich, and then made their initial USA tour later that year.

Scheduled for the October 13th concert at ULowell are works by Bach ("Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor"), Nordheim ("Introduction and Boomerang"), Mendelssohn ("String Symphony #10") and Mozart ("Sinfonia Concertante").

Single tickets are priced at $17.00, $15.00 and $13.00. Also available is the two-event "Music Package", in which the Norwegian Chamber orchestra is paired with the internationally renowned St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, scheduled to perform on February 12, 1988. # Reggae To Rock at Cumnock

FOOLS

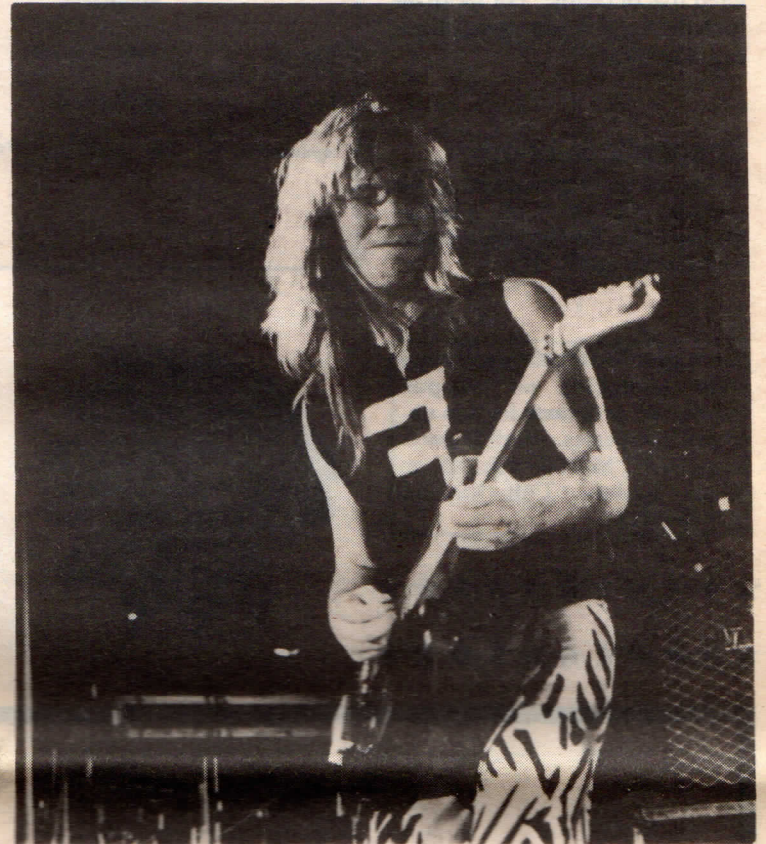

The first Activities Commission concert featuring The Fools and the Stompers packed Cumnock Hall to Capacity. The opening act R.D. Rhythm, formerly known as Fiascos, primed the concert goers with a Reggae beat. The strong horns of R.D. Rhythm made this act they played some Bob Marley Tunes as well as their version of "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" and their own "Reggae Calypso."

The Fools came out next and really got the crowd moving. The theatrics of the lead singer and musical talent of the entire band is unparalleled. They played many of their hits including "Beautiful Girls", "World Dance Party", "A Song About Food", "Life Sucks", and "She Makes me Feel Big". Their 70 minute set never let the crowd stop for a minute.

The Stompers came on shortly after 11:00 p.m. with a smoke show. They opened with "American Girl" and their version of "Shake, Rattle and Roll". This was the loudest of the three acts. They featured their hits on "Never Tell an Angel", "Coast to Coast", and "Rock'n Roll Church". About half way through the show they picked up an oldies beat. "Under the Boardwalk", "One Heart For Sale", "The Wanderer". The Stompers left the stage at 12:30 a.m. but the concert goers demanded an encore. They came back out to play "Hippy Hippy Shake" and "Johnny B. Goode". The only thing missing from the Stompers was their keyboardist, he was on his honeymoon.

There were two groups at the concert, The Fools and The Stompers, needless to say both had a good time.

The Fools lead guitar, Ritchie Barlett.

Two great ways to cruise through the semester.

The hand on the left is poised on what could be the most essential part of your education.

A Macintosh™ computer.

And the hand on the right is gripping pure, simple, unadulterated fun.

A Honda Scooter. One we're giving away.

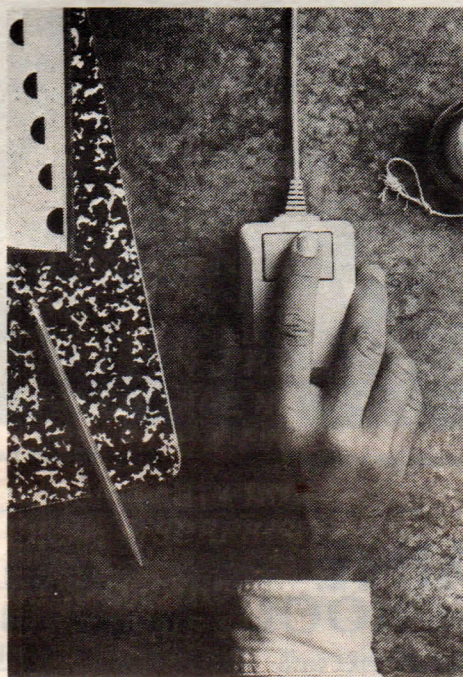

All you have to do for a chance to drive it away is visit your campus computer center and fill out an entry form. While you're there, take a Macintosh for a test drive.

Because Macintosh can help you write term papers, categorize elements of the periodic table, plot the rise and fall of pork-belly prices, compile computer code, and talk to other computers.

And the first 250 people on campus who get behind a mouse, so to speak, will receive a free Apple® memo board.

So head over to your campus computer center today. And ask about our Student Financing Program.

Who knows? You may soon find yourself cruising a little farther than you expected.

Test drive a Macintosh. You may ride away on a Honda Scooter.

School Volunteers Assist Lowell Children

School Volunteers for Lowell is recruiting volunteers for the Fall semester (September through December). Volunteers work with Lowell classroom teachers, tutoring individual students in reading/writing, math, science, social studies or foreign languages, art or music. Volunteers also work with small groups of students to improve basic skills. School volunteers are asked to commit two hours twice per week; "job requirements" are a love of children, patience and perseverance.

Transportation is helpful, but not required. If you are interested in being part of this worthwhile program, please contact Deanne Dixon, Volunteer coordinator, SVL Program, at 454-9569.

Program Description

School Volunteers for Lowell (SVL) provides a vital link between the public school system and the greater Lowell community. Beginning its fourth year in service to public education, the SVL program continues to demonstrate its effectiveness in strengthening student academic achievement by involving a broad spectrum of Lowell's population -- parents, senior citizens, university and high school students, and other community members -- in the education of students in classrooms all over the city.

Goals

School Volunteers for Lowell has five (5) goals:

1. Increase the involvement of community in the Lowell Public Schools;
2. Recruit, train and place volunteers in schools for specific priority areas of the curriculum;
3. Demonstrate benefits to students in these priority areas;
4. Meet the needs of both participating school personnel and volunteers; and
5. Expand the number of participating schools annually in response to principal and teacher requests.

What Does SVL Really Do?

In 1986-87, SVL brought 261 volunteers into the Lowell Public Schools. 153 volunteers were recruited, trained and placed in Lowell classrooms, committing themselves to serve two hours twice per week. Of these 153 volunteers, 75 were University of Lowell students, 42 were parents with children in Lowell public schools, 15 were Lowell high school students, and the remaining 21 were members of a broad range of community groups -- senior citizens, business and government organizations. 19 schools requested and received volunteer placements. On November 13th, 1986, "Community Reader Day" brought an additional 72 community business, civic and cultural leaders to enter Lowell's 160 Kindergarten, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grade classrooms to read along and encourage young readers. Another SVL program, the 1987 Celebration of Student Art, gave young artists from 22 public and 2 parochial Lowell schools the opportunity to display examples of various artistic media. Planning hanging and gallery sitting the Art Celebration involved 36 volunteers. An estimated 3500 spectators, ranging from parents, teachers, students and community art-lovers, visited this two-week long event at Lowell's Pollard Memorial Library.

Background

School Volunteers for Lowell is a coordinated volunteer program that was initiated in the Fall of 1984 in response to a Lowell Model for Educational Excellence recommendation to increase community participation in the Lowell Public Schools. A joint project of the Lowell Public Schools and the University of Lowell College of Education's Center for Field Services and Studies, SVL has been supported primarily by grants from the Theodore Edson Parker Foundation, the University of Lowell, School/College Collaborative Grants from the Massachusetts Board of Regents, and Lowell-area business

Kinds of a Feather

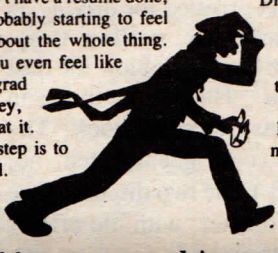

It used to be that if you had a typeset resume you really stood out from the rest. Employers were impressed because typeset resumes were so rare and so costly. Today, however, the situation has changed. A typeset resume is no longer unique. In fact, it is becoming the norm. A typeset resume looks better than a laser printer or dot matrix printer. Neatness counts. That's why you always dress your best when you go on interviews. You really aren't any different mentally, physically, or emotionally than if you wore blue jeans and a T-shirt. However, you certainly leave a much different impression. Real typesetting is done using quality equipment costing many thousands of dollars and is designed specifically for that purpose. The Connector uses a Compugraphic MCS 100 typesetting system.

Seniors: It's Not Too Late!
If you don't have a resume done, you're probably starting to feel anxious about the whole thing. Maybe you even feel like going to grad school. Hey, don't sweat it. The first step is to get started. After you have a.

rough draft, it's time to get some opinions. Show your resume to a few teachers, some star students, and the people at the placement office. Revise as necessary and come to the Connector to get it typeset. Remember: your resume stands in for you when you're not there and how it looks is just as important as what's in it.

Juniors: Get A Head Start
Did you ever notice how some students seem to be able to get summer jobs as management trainees, programmers, or junior engineers? Is there something that makes these students so special or qualified? Probably not, except that they are more prepared than most of us when it comes to job hunting. Why don't you try putting together your resume and getting it typeset here. After the end of the summer you can have it revised, adding to it your summer's worth of experience. You'll also be prepared for interviewing in the fall.

It's Practical
At the Connector, we'll keep your resume on floppy disk for at least a year from the time you first use our service. Using the Connector's Resume Service just makes sense. Because in today's job market, to have your resume typeset is not fashionable anymore. It's a necessity.

It's not fashionable anymore. It's a necessity.

Are You A Woman Who Loves Too Much?

- * Do you feel that having a special person in your life could solve your problems of depression, aimlessness and loneliness?
- * Even though this special person reminds you of others who have made you unhappy, do you feel that this time it's different?
- * Does your involvement with this person jeopardize your well-being, your health, even your safety?
- * Are you terrified of the depression that will follow if you break up?

If so you may want to explore these topics in a free self-help group of women whose relationships are or have been exploitive, compromising or destructive. This group, based on the book "Women Who Love Too Much", by Robin Norwood will meet on Mondays from 12-1 p.m. in the conference room next to the SIC in the South Campus SUB. ## Coke, Coffee, or Condom?

Thomas O. Kershaw

Editor

In the words of Surgeon General C. Everet Koop, "The best means to stop the spread of Aids, barring abstinence, is the use of a condom." As Aids becomes increasingly more widespread any and all methods to prevent transmission of the virus is necessary. The topic of a recent College Press Service story is the installation of condom vending machines on college campuses.

Across the country colleges are installing the machines in both men's and women's bathrooms. The ease of availability promotes only the ideas of safety and responsibility. Part of being responsible is realizing that information alone will not stop Aids. When our Health Services Department presents films and pamphlets during Freshman Orientation the students are told that birth control services are available for women but, the men are left to provide for themselves.

The cost of stocking condoms for distribution may be prohibitive, for budgetary reasons. Condom vending machines are available as a cost effective measure as they would provide revenue from a percentage of sales. At the same time the university would be increasing the safety of the students and promoting a more healthy attitude towards sex.

The Residence Life program is expanding. The number of women living on campus is increasing. The university has a duty to maintain a healthy environment, particularly to its resident population. This project is not one that should be placed on a time line. The need is real and exists now. The dispensers can be installed in existing locations now, and then in the new halls to come.

This is an educational institution. Aids, as well as other sexually transmitted diseases, has to be addressed. Health Services is happy to report that no known cases of Aids have been reported on this campus. That does not mean that we are without venereal disease. It is up to the university and its students to ensure that Aids will not take residence here.

A man to fear

During the last week of August, Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell Jr. unexpectedly announced his retirement. On July 1, President Reagan named Robert H. Bork as the newly appointed Justice. Since Reagan named Bork, there has been much debate.

Various groups around the country are in opposition to Bork's appointment. The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights and The American Civil Liberties Union are two such groups that have been actively fighting the appointment.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is currently holding Supreme Court confirmation hearings. They have asked Bork numerous questions and will continue to do so over the next couple of weeks. Much of the questioning has focused on his opinions concerning minorities, free speech, and protection of privacy.

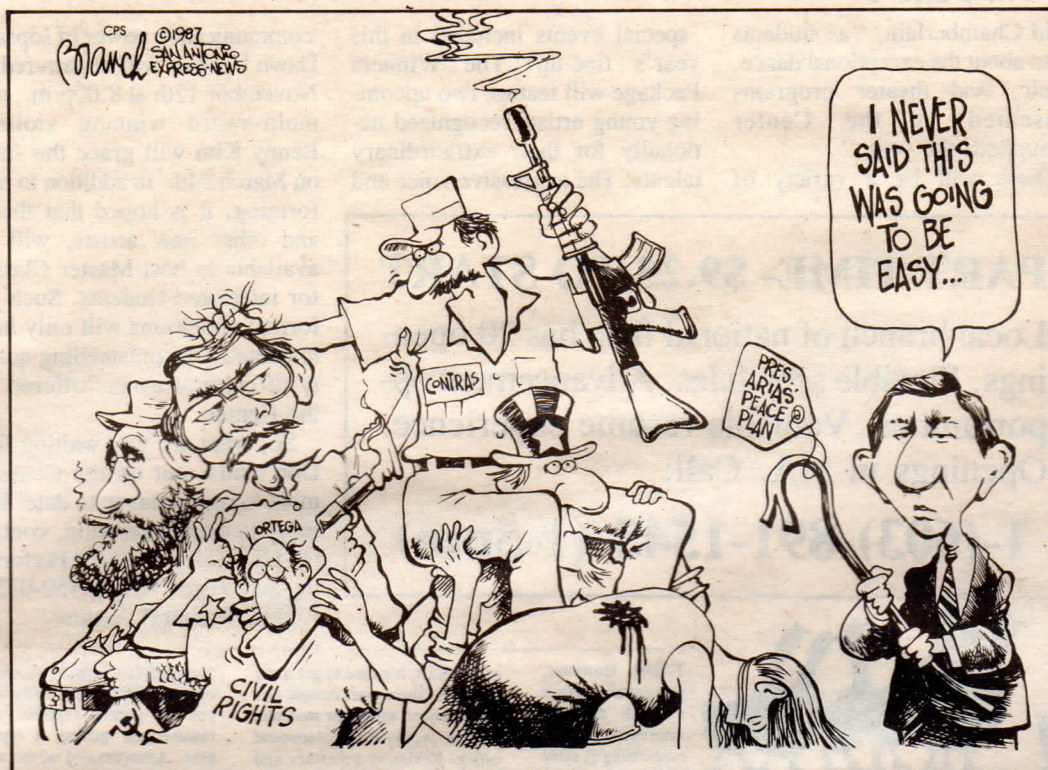

Bork has voiced strong criticism of the 1965 Supreme Court ruling, Griswold vs. Connecticut, that ended a law forbidding anyone from using birth control. He has testified in front of the Senate Judiciary Committee that he is unsure on his stand regarding marital privacy. And as recently as 1984, he issued a ruling in a case concerning a West Virginian American Cyanamid Co. that virtually told female employees to either be sterilized or be fired. He has also voiced opposition to rulings that paved the way for desegregation in our public schools.

Here, surely, is a man to be feared. The year is 1987 and it seems that we have a judge that has in his hands, the opportunity to change our way of living. I do not want to see the hands of time turned back. Right now I am able to write such an article as this, have it published, and not worry about retaliation. If I want to use birth control, I may use it. If that fails and I choose to have an abortion, I may obtain one. It is my right to make my own decision. In the world of Robert H. Bork, we may not have those rights!

Take a moment to write to your senators. Tell them you are opposed to Robert H. Bork. Time is of the essence, if we want to keep the rights of our times.

Letters to the Editor:

Of Police And Parking

Saturday, Sept. 12, around 10:00 pm, two students drove into the Pinanski parking lot. As they walked towards the lower Ball Hall entrance, ULowell Police Officer William Gray drove up and told the driver, Rich Miner, that he would not be able to park on University property, because he has an expired inspection sticker. Not a parking sticker, but an inspection sticker, which has nothing to do with the University. He told Mr. Miner that he could get arrested for driving an uninspected car. (Officer Gray, it's time for you to blow the dust off your "How to be a cop in three easy steps." book. The driver would get ticketed, not arrested.) The two discussed the matter further, with the officer trying to use his car as a persuasive device. Finally, Mr. Miner said, "I'll move my car, but I think you're being an asshole about this." Officer Gray leaped out of his car, and with his hand on his night stick, shoved Mr. Miner onto the hood of the police car.

At the Lowell police station, the officer on duty asked Officer Gray, "What have we here?", to which he replied, "We have an asshole." (Shouldn't the Lowell officer have arrested Officer Gray at that point?) Miner was then booked on the charge of being a Disorderly Person. The arrest report states: Rich Miner was a disorderly person in that he did, with purpose to cause a public inconvenience, annoyance, or alarm, or recklessly creating a risk thereof, engage in fighting or threatening, or in violent or tumultuous behavior, or did create a hazardous or physically offensive condition by an act that served no legitimate purpose of the defendant.

Monday morning, Miner went to court, where the case was dismissed upon payment of court fees. The court did not want their time wasted with such a trivial matter.

I have discussed this matter with quite a few people. The agreed opinion of all those polled, was that Officer Gray overstepped his power of authority. First, parking should not be an issue on a Saturday night, when one would be hard pressed to find ten cars in the Riverside lot. Second, Officer Gray should familiarize himself with our laws. The description of a disorderly person does not fit the description of Mr. Miner's behavior, especially when the last line of the description is taken into consideration. Officer Gray should also keep in mind a few thoughts. The next time he fulfills his Hill Street Blues fantasy, he is making himself and the University liable for a lawsuit. He is creating a situation that could have turned into a far more serious incident. Had Mr. Miner resisted arrest, an act many people feel would have been justified, the stupid act of worrying about an inspection sticker would have mushroomed into a charge of assault. Also, Officer Gray should keep in mind that he is a representative of the campus police, and this type of act puts a black mark on the otherwise sound record police. Finally, the student who was the passenger of the car, contacted a professor about the situation. The professor then called a vice president of the University, who in turn called the Dean of Students. Officer Gray wasted the time or quite a few individuals.

Next time Officer Gray wants to play Rambo, I wish he would consider the consequences of his actions first.

Dear Senator,

The Senate has rejected one out of five nominees in the past. Reject Robert Bork. He is an extremist whom I cannot support as a Supreme Court Justice. We need a Justice who understands the values of privacy and fairness. Our lives depend on it.

Another Story Told

You have all heard the rumors concerning the termination of all the Greek organizations on campus. Yes, the Board of Trustees will not recognize the Greeks as being affiliated with our school. This does not mean, however, that we whom are involved have to give up. As members of the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority, my sisters and I are sisters forever. The bonds we share with each other have not changed. We even have to work harder to achieve our goals for our sorority. Just like any individual who has an interest in a sport or society, they are still going to be involved, and do their best - for themselves and others involved.

The Greeks on this campus have an interest in something they believe in, and together we will hold on to our hopes and our pledge.

I would like to commend our president, Donna Marie for her outstanding work over this summer and so far this fall. Donna Marie, thank you, you're the best.

Congratulations go to our newest alumnae, Pam Arndorfer who has just become a registered nurse, and to Debbie Mayotte who is now attending law school. Do these two students have the 'Animal House' attitude that so many of the students and Administration have given the Greeks of this school? In think not.

We currently have many sisters involved in extra-curricular activities, such as: Concordia R.A., Crew, Marketing Club, Photography Club, Bowling Team, Intramurals, etc. This further proves our diversity throughout the university. Not only can we, actively participate in a number of organizations and still achieve the highest nuber of years for having the highest cumulative G.P.A. on campus.

Thank you for your attention and please continue to support us...as friends.

Ever get the feeling in some restaurants that by going in to gab for a few hours over coffee that you're not welcome? Well that won't happen at the Sundance Cafe, a small international-style restaurant tucked away on Central St. in downtown Lowell. Manager Waleed Kaddoura wants you to know that at the Sundance

review

it's all right to stop in for one of their twenty-six styles of international coffees and teas to relax, read the Connector, or even knock off some homework away from your roommates.

The editorial board of the Connector held an important meeting at the Sundance on Monday afternoon and I am glad to report that we found the management genuinely eager to please, the food expertly prepared, and the Middle Eastern menu a nice change of pace from the local sub scene. In our opinion the mocha coffee was good enough to make even a freshman poetry reading assignment seem bearable, although for those in search of variety there is everything from Arabic to Vienne coffee on tap.

Besides the staggering assortment of beverages from the all-important caffeine family, the Sundance serves a variety of Italian fruit drinks that are different and worth sampling. We recommend the Orzata, a combination of milk, soda water and almond extract that tastes a lot better than it sounds.

Is it your policy not to drink anything you can't pronounce? Then belly up the bar and say, "Make that a Bud Light." Good old American beer and the Sundance are no strangers. Or you could select from among the imported brews on hand, such as Beck's, Amstel, Swan Lager, Guinness, and Dos Equis.

For lunches and dinner the Sundance features everything from falafel and kabobs to seafood and cheeseburgers. The best way to get to know the foreign dishes is the tried and true method of going in with a group and all order something different. But whatever you order you're sure to have a good time at this friendly little place. If nothing else you can stop in for a drink and try to figure how they came up with the idea of putting life-size black and white stills of the Stooges, Charlie Chaplin, Humphrey Bogart and Judy Garland on the walls of a restaurant that serves dishes with names like "Baba Ghannoosh." While you're thinking you might as well try the Baba Ghannoosh—I liked it.

The Sundance is open until from 10:00 to 10:00 every night except Fridays and Saturdays when it stays open till 2:00 a.m. for those late-night cravings. At 135 Central St. the Sundance is practically across the street from the new Crescent Building, just up by Blaine Hair School.

"HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS."

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. Then, under the New GI Bill, I'm getting another $5,000 for tuition and books.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

Concordia Talent

Concordia Hall's Annual Freshman Talent Night took place last Wednesday evening, attracting the usual throng of rowdy ULowell students to the South Campus residence hall. This event, to the thrill of Concordia upperclassmen, offers an exhibition of all the new freshman talent that has recently moved into the hall. Traditionally each year, the acts give the word "talent" a whole new meaning and this year was no exception...

Wednesday night's performances included not one but two scoops of raisins dancing to "Heard it through the Grapevine"; a touching tribute to "Rubber Duckie"; a Cool Whip interpretation of "Space Odyssey 2000"; "The Dating Game" featuring that lucky bachelor Joel Sapp; and perhaps too many freshman who claim that they've "Lost that Lovin' Feeling". Concordia Hall Resident Director and staff graced the stage with their act entitled "Karen MacDonald and a Twelve-pack of McNuggets", inspiring the freshmen to even greater heights. The surprise guest act of the evening featured the sophisticated yet subtly-breathtaking "Bourgeois Basement Ladies Club" who...uh... "danced" to "Boom, Boom, Boom"... poetry in motion, guys!

Finally, the winning freshman act of the show took down the house with their women-of-the-eighties version of "Respect". The performers in this act (Chris Lagasta, Kristin Broderick, Carlene Carrabino, and Krystin Carlson) received the highest honors of the evening - fame? fortune? their own parking spaces? No, even better...as the emcee of the evening, Jill Smallhover, commented, "The prize is self-satisfaction and recognition. Clearly."

So once again, Concordia's Freshmen Talent Night was an overwhelming success. Both the performers and the spectators were awesome and everyone had a great time - yeah, even the freshmen! But what's the best part of Freshman Talent Night? According to one of Concordia's newest residents, "The best part is knowing that next year we get to watch" O.K., see you then!

UBU II - The Madness Continues

At this time last year this campus was plastered with tidings of "Ubu is coming!" A maddening curiosity accompanied these signs. What is Ubu? Last year, Ubu was freshman initiation for many Towers residents. The theme was simple. Party, fun with the freshmen, and the end of summer. Much of Ubu night consisted of freshmen, sporting togas and underwear on the head, wandering the campus in search of a resident (of the opposite sex) to bring back to the floor. Those who had been lured back to the floor had to drink from the sacred Ubu bucket. What made the freshmen stand out most was the fact that the rest of the building was decked out in Hawaiian wear to say goodbye to summer. This year, Ubu is back with a twist.

Ubu II is expanded to include all of Fox Hall. Each floor, however, gets to choose their own theme, the upperclassmen dominate in this decision. Be it togas, hawaiian, or nerds, the upperclassmen decide and the freshmen follow through. The floor with the best theme will be rewarded handsomely, so everyone should get involved. Of course the festivities will be concentrated in the Rat, as it was last year. October 2nd is Ubu II. Expect a few surprises!

New Coordinator of Promotions Dana K. Skinner

Athletic Director Dr. R. Wayne Edwards, following the Board of Trustees meeting Wednesday, September 19, announced that Dana K. Skinner has been named Coordinator of Promotions, Marketing, and Event Operations effective immediately.

Skinner, a former All-American basketball player at Merrimack College and a third round draft choice of the Boston Celtics in 1978, was most recently an athletic staff assistant and the men's basketball coach at Salem State College. In his new position, he will be responsible for the creation and implementation of contest promotions and marketing programs, all ticket sales and distribution including season tickets, and coordinate a variety of contests in designated sports. He will also take charge of all varsity travel arrangements and oversee the athletic department's summer sports camps program.

"We're very fortunate to get someone with his experience and talent," commented Dr. Edwards following the Trustees meeting. "He has experience in athletic administration at St. Thomas University and Salem State College. His experience in all the diverse areas of this position will make him a very valuable component of the athletic department. His time coaching will allow him to relate to the needs and problems of the coaching staff."

During his two seasons as head coach of the Salem State basketball team, he led the Vikings to a 34-19 record, including a 22-6 mark and a trip to the NCAA Division Three tournament in 1985-86. He was inducted into the Merrimack College Athletic Hall of Fame in 1985 and is a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Skinner expressed his pleasure at coming to ULowell, "I'm extremely anxious to get to the University. There are so many opportunities for us there. There are a lot of things we can get involved with. I've always felt good about ULowell's academic program and some of the athletic programs have reached the same high standard. I would like to get the whole department up to that level of excellence."

A 1978 graduate of Merrimack with a B.A. in American Studies/Education, Skinner coached boys basketball and was a physical education instructor at Bishop Fenwick High School for three years (1981-84). He left Bishop Fenwick to pursue his masters degree in Sports Administration at St. Thomas College (Miami, Fla.) while serving as that school's Assistant Athletic Director. He received his masters degree this July.

The fourth all-time leading scorer in Merrimack history, Skinner scored 1746 points in 85 games over three seasons. He averaged 16.2 points per game as a sophomore, 20.5 ppg as a junior and 25.1 as a senior and still holds the school record for single season (.922) and career (.877) free throw percentage.

During Skinner's three seasons (1975-78), the Warriors were 63-23 including a 23-6 record his senior year, the best in Merrimack history. He co-captained the team as a senior when Merrimack went to the finals of the NCAA Regional tournament where they lost to Sacred Heart University.

For his career, the 6-3 forward averaged 20.5 points, 5.4 rebounds, 2.7 assists and shot 56.7 from the floor.

Skinner returned to the New England area in Oct., 1985 when he was named the men's basketball coach at Salem State. During his two seasons as head coach, he led the Vikings to a 34-19 record including a 22-6 mark and a trip to the NCAA Division Three tournament in 1985-86.

Inducted into the Merrimack College Athletic Hall of Fame in 1985, Skinner is a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Hang Gliders Clear for Takeoff

The members of the hang gliding club would like to thank Dean King and Dean Taylor for helping us reach a compromise solution which permits ULHGC to continue to exist and to continue flying. After these past two rainy weekends, we are very anxious to start flying this weekend, Sept. 26 and 27, at Morningside Flight Park in Claremont, New Hampshire.

We know that there are many of you out there who have not yet made it to any of our not well publicized meetings; we hope to see you at one in the future. Just to give you a little advanced notice, our next three meetings are on Thursdays, Sept. 24, Oct. 1 and Oct. 8 at 7:00 p.m. in the N.C. multipurpose room under the library. Anyone interested in flying for all or part of the weekend must come to a meeting on the previous Thursday evening.

Also, we would like to see more of the returning members at the meetings; if you want to fly, you've got to show up. For those of you who have never been hang gliding and would like to try it, we strongly urge you to be at our meeting Thursday, but if you can't make it, please come to the next meeting, Oct. 1, and we will make sure to get you flying that weekend.

Progressive Student Union Presents Jimi at Berkeley

The Progressive Student Union is a loose-knit affiliation of progressive and alternative minded students. We make our home in room 357 of the South Campus Student Union Building. Over the years we have been responsible for bringing many alternative activities on campus, such as last semester's SDI debate, or our ever recurring Open Stage/Coffee House. We cordially invite anyone who has enjoyed our activities in the past, along with any newly interested students to work with us.

We are currently planning our first activity for Wednesday, October 7, at 3:00 p.m. At this time we will be showing two movies in the South Media Center. The theme: domestic repression. The first film is a short clip about illegal detainment of American Palestinians in Los Angeles this spring. This film features defense attorney Len Weinglass, and runs about 20 minutes. The second film is Jimi Plays Berkeley, starring Jimi Hendrix. This film portrays the Berkeley riots of 1970, which centered around Hendrix's concerts. If these films prove successful, there will be more to follow.

We are planning other events for this semester including the second annual Veteran's Day Coffee House, a speaker or two, and hopefully a Fall Concert on the Quad. If anyone is interested, we are making arrangements for the October 3rd Impeachment Rally in Washington D.C. Our box number is 37 South Campus SIC. Drop by the office in 357 South SUB, or write a note, come on down and hang out. We have a big semester planned, see you all there.

DRIVER'S CORNER

The fall season of autocross racing begins on Sunday September 27th in the North Campus Riverside parking lot (next to Olney Hall). Registration begins at 10:30 a.m., first car off the starting line at 11:30 a.m. Bring whatever you drive, no experience necessary. There will be trophies awarded in five classes for different types of cars. Entry fees are $3 for ULowell Sports Car Club members and $5 for non-members.

This race will be the first autocross in the Riverside lot in a year and it should be the best. This lot is known for long courses and excellent traction. For those of you with muscle cars this is a race you should not miss due to the straightaways.

Requirements of this event are that your car is not low on brake fluid and that your battery is secured (we will be checking). To prepare for this event I suggest you check your engine's timing and spark plugs and an oil change is a good idea. Worn out shocks will hurt your car's handling so check those too.

On race day using premium gas and increasing tire pressure will help you on your way towards a trophy. Increasing your tire pressure helps keep your car from riding on the tires sidewalls and plowing through a hard corner. This is the easiest way to increase your car's handling ability. The amount of tire pressure needed varies from car to car, around 40 psi is a good place to start and then adjust it if need be after your first run. ULSCC members will be on hand to give you advice if needed. For more info on the Sports Car Club there are meetings every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Fox 523.

Goals

"GOALS" held its first meeting September 9, 1987 to which only a few people attended. We attribute the poor attendance to lack of communication on our part to both old members for not letting them know about the meeting and to students who might have been interested who have no idea what "GOALS" is and does.

First of all, "GOALS" stands for "Gay Outreach Association for ULowell Students". We exist to provide support to homosexuals who are just coming out, new to the area, or want to be around people like themselves.

The meetings themselves discuss a wide range of topics that affect homosexuals as well as provide support to gay people through peer counseling and social events. We hold meetings every Thursday, at 4:00 p.m. in Room 334 on the third floor of the Student Union Building (S.U.B.) on South Campus.

In addition to the meetings, "GOALS" also operates the Merrimack Valley Gay and Lesbian Support Line. The Support Line gives over the phone counseling and referrals to men and women and is in need of volunteers. The line operates Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. and Fridays from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

If interested call 452-3679 (Psychology Majors/Minors can pick up 3.0 credits for participation.)

SQUADRON N-12

Hello again from all the brothers of Squadron N-12! We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who came down and bought a hamburger from us during our recent fundraiser. Due to popular demand, our next fundraiser will consist of sausages, so look for us on Thursday, October 1st under the arches at Southwick Hall. After all, it's close, it's cheap, and it's good!

For all the students interested in becoming brothers, we have the following message; the week of Sept. 28 is the last week you can enroll. Obviously, the sooner you enroll, the better. Rather than repeat what we printed last week concerning what you will learn through our organization, let us run down the background presently in service at N-12. We have one member of the Air Guard, one member of the Army Guard, two members of AFROTC, three members of the Marine Reserves, and three civilians. A motley crew, agreed, but our accumulation of knowledge is wide-spread as well as plentiful. In addition, our ULowell majors vary greatly so that many viewpoints are looked at in reaching our objectives.

Squadron N-12 received "Most Improved Company" in the 12th Regiment of Pershing Rifles last year and we are striving to be honored as the "Best Company" this year. If you would like to help us reach this goal by becoming a brother, leave a note in Club Box #114 letting us know how to reach you, but do it quickly. Time running out!!

Until next time, enjoy your week!

The Brotherhood of Squadron N-12

The Mens' and Womens' Ski Team Encourages Students to join

The U-Lowell Ski Team hopes to recruit as many enthusiastic skiers as the school has to offer. If you are willing to work hard throughout the fall to build your physical strength, half your battle is over.

Don't be intimidated about joining because you're not sure if you are "varsity material". All our members work hard as a team to insure that when the racing season starts, we will be ready to compete against the other 8 NCSA Division II ski teams, and win. Being in shape improves your skiing ability tremendously. Not only will participating on the ski team improve your skiing, but you'll have the chance to meet some great people and make good friends.

The ski team works out "dryland" style five days a week, three of which are required if you want to race in the winter. Dryland training (exercise and sports to build your strength) is held now until the beginning of December. Once the snow falls, we resume our training on the slopes.

If you have enthusiasm, determination, and are willing to work for what you want, but you are a little intimidated about joining a varsity sport, come down to the Costello gym to talk to any of us about it. We meet in the bottom floor every day at 4:00 p.m., and then go out to the field to train until 6:00 p.m.

Getting involved with the ski team is exciting, and it can make your college experience unforgettable. Have confidence in yourself! Check us out!

Before you choose a long distance service, take a close look.

You may be thinking about choosing one of the newer carriers over AT&T in order to save money.

Think again.

Since January 1987, AT&T's rates have dropped more than 15% for direct-dialed out-of-state calls. So they're lower than you probably realize. For information on specific rates, you can call us at 1 800 222-0300.

And AT&T offers clear long distance connections, operator assistance, 24-hour customer service, and immediate credit for wrong numbers. Plus, you can use AT&T to call from anywhere to anywhere, all over the United States and to over 250 countries.

You might be surprised at how good a value AT&T really is. So before you choose a long distance company, pick up the phone.
